THE CAVALIERS

CODE

My Cavalier Code . . .

Few members of the Purcell Faculty throughout the years have exercised such an influence on the students, especially the seniors, as Monsignor August Kramer. His influence continues to be felt in the recitation of the Cavalier Code.

Father Kramer was appointed Head of the Religion Department at Purcell in 1940. At that time the priests — both diocesan and Marianist — who composed the Religion Department met periodically under his chairmanship. Early in 1951 it was decided to develop a code of conduct for the students. The members of the department were asked to formulate a list of points to be included. After these were discussed, a final draft was prepared by Father Kramer and the Principal, Father Leonard Fee, S.M., who took a deep interest in this work.

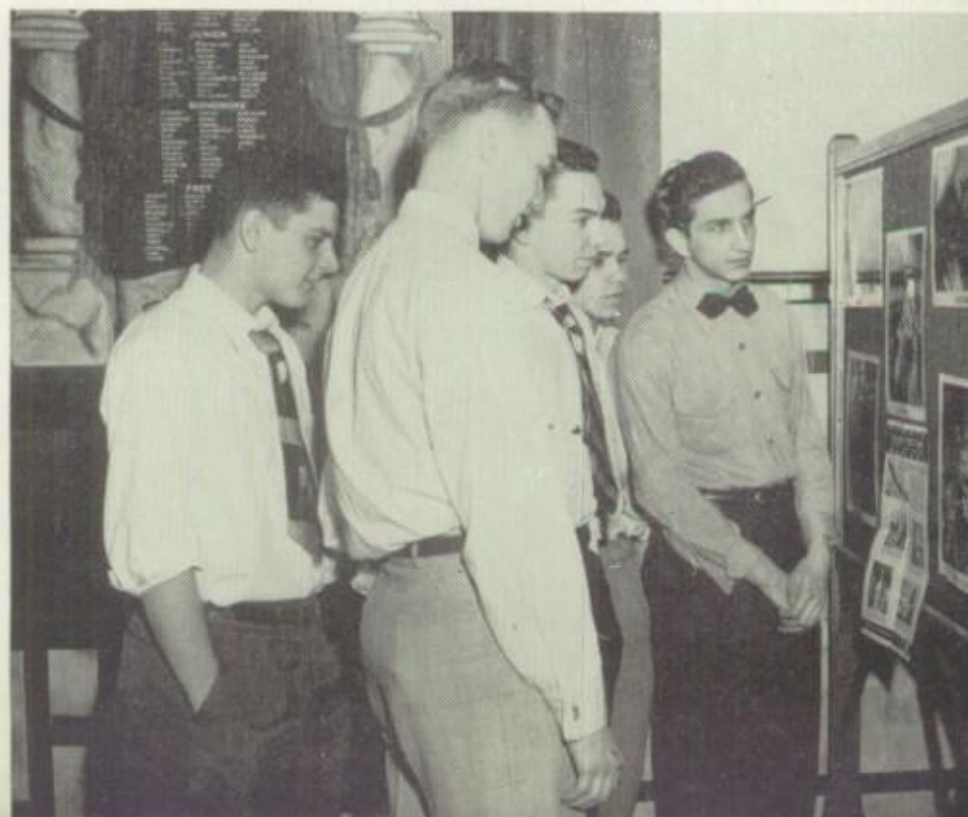

Purcell's CAVALIER CODE, in its ten points, keeps before the students their obligations in every aspect of their lives as Catholic leaders.

When the Code was first adopted, every student was given a copy in a convenient form for carrying in his wallet. Successive issues of THE PLUME editorialized its points one after the other. Each school day began with its recitation in the home room; it had a place in every assembly, whether a pep rally or religious or cultural meeting. More than one guest speaker was deeply impressed when the student body rose during the course of the assembly, and, as every Cavalier stood at attention, the auditorium vibrated with the powerful cadences of the Code of the Knights of the Castle.

In hoc signo vinces: In this sign thou shalt conquer! These flaming words, seen in the heavens by Constantine, inspired Brother Louis A. Weber, S.M. in his design of the Cavalier Code symbol. In this emblem, always used with the Code, is the cross, sign of victory and salvation; the hand pointing to the cross is the will of God, the way of eternal life; the world is shown, and rising upon it is a sunburst — a sign of Christ, the Light of the world. Thus in symbolic form are shown the three principal means by which the Cavalier lives his Code: submitting to the will of God, following the inspiration of Christ, and accepting the challenge of the cross.

Intelligent-looking seniors? Sure, that's the reason for the serious study of the Quo Vadis pictures.

Its History and Development

Current Capers

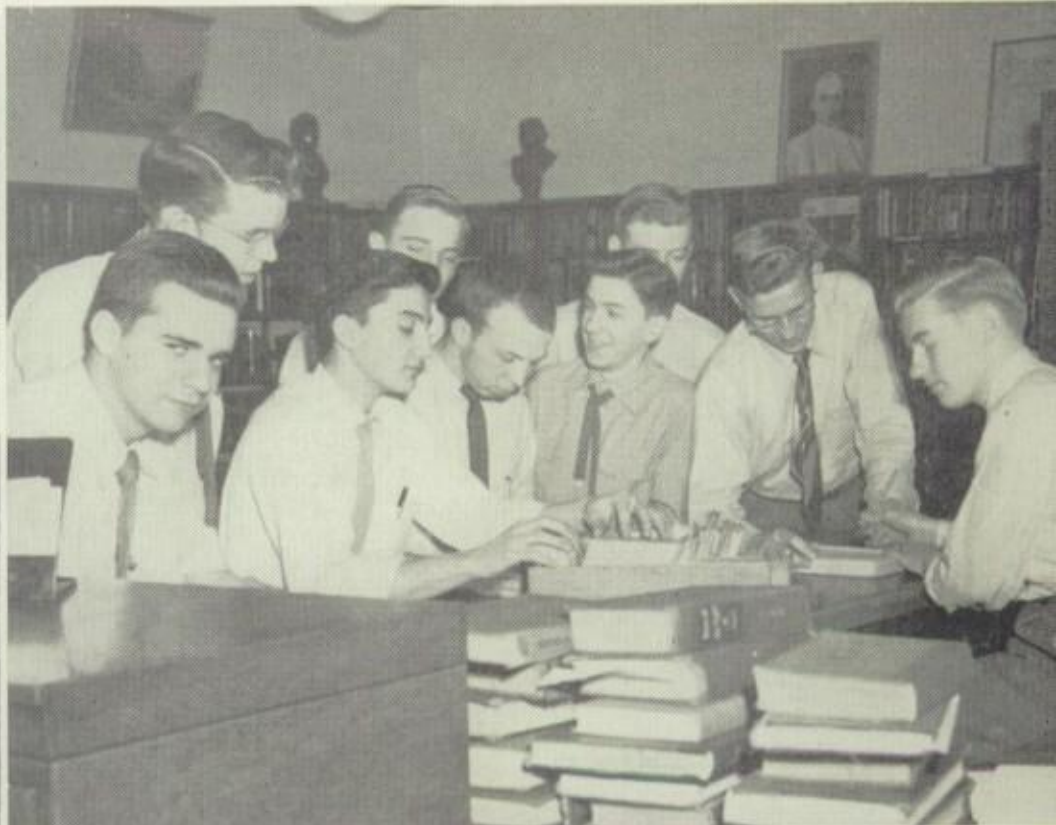

It's an up-and-over demonstration by two professional acrobats of the freshman gym class. Wonder what happened three seconds later?

"It says 'push' on the door," claims Leesemann, "so let's go." Being sardine-packed makes no difference, just so school is over.

These seniors have a book report due today and haven't even begun to read. Bill Zins is about ready to throw in the sponge.

With a cultivated hand and a fertile mind these senior artists are engaged in one of their innumerable poster campaigns.

As a Catholic I realize the place which our Chief Shepherd holds in the school administration. Ever Efficient

The necessity of able administration has been impressed most emphatically upon my mind during my years at Purcell. Father Barrett and Brother Lawrence, assisted by our able secretaries, have safeguarded by their counsel and guidance, admonition and chastisement, the good name of our school. Then too, without Father Byrne, the school could hardly function. Actually, however, I, by my actions, either raise or lower Purcell in the public esteem.

During my stay at Purcell it was always a source of pride to see my name listed on the Honor Roll. The highest praise must go to those persistent scholars who have maintained a 90% average during four years. Certainly they have kept their pledge of honor more successfully than those who have made necessary such preventive measures as misconduct tickets and detention.

A Round of Learning and Leisure

Time and tide and an empty stomach wait for no man. Come and get it!

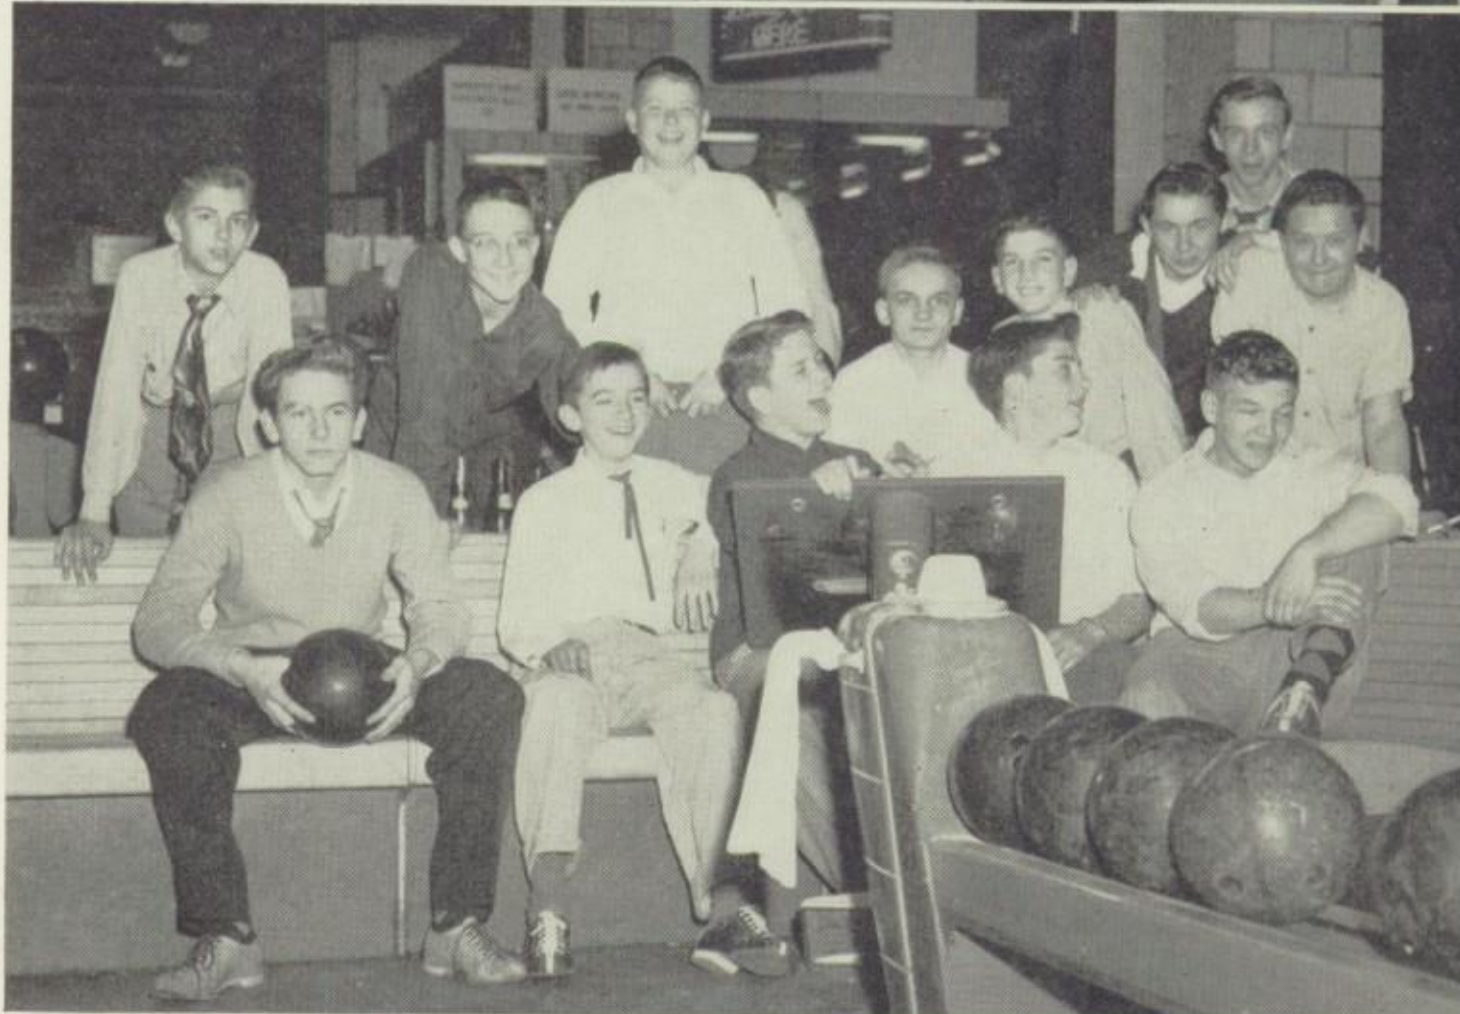

The strong arm of "Mr. Law" descends upon "Chico" Murdock as Bro. Lawrence offers him an invitation to a "tete-a-tete" at 2:30.

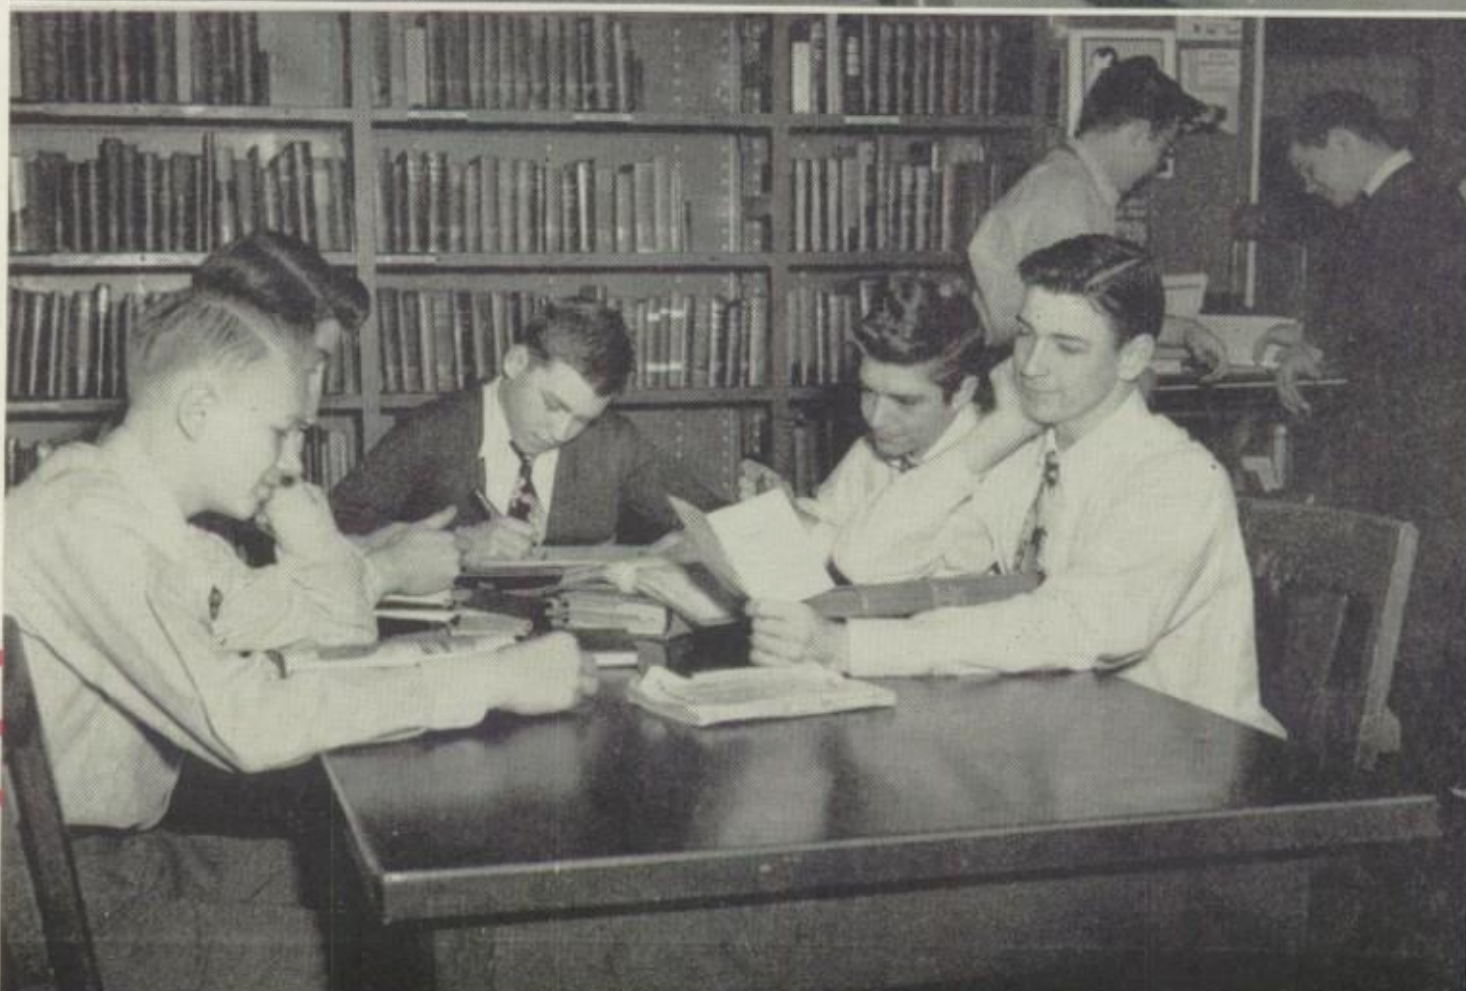

C. Giese and E. Longo are always on the job to sell you a blue book, some pencils, or a pack of paper. You'd better watch your change; Longo's getting fat.

Here's an interesting study in faces. Uckotter is diagnosing that last gutter ball; Joey smiles at his satisfactory strike; Bruns probably has a soaring 53.

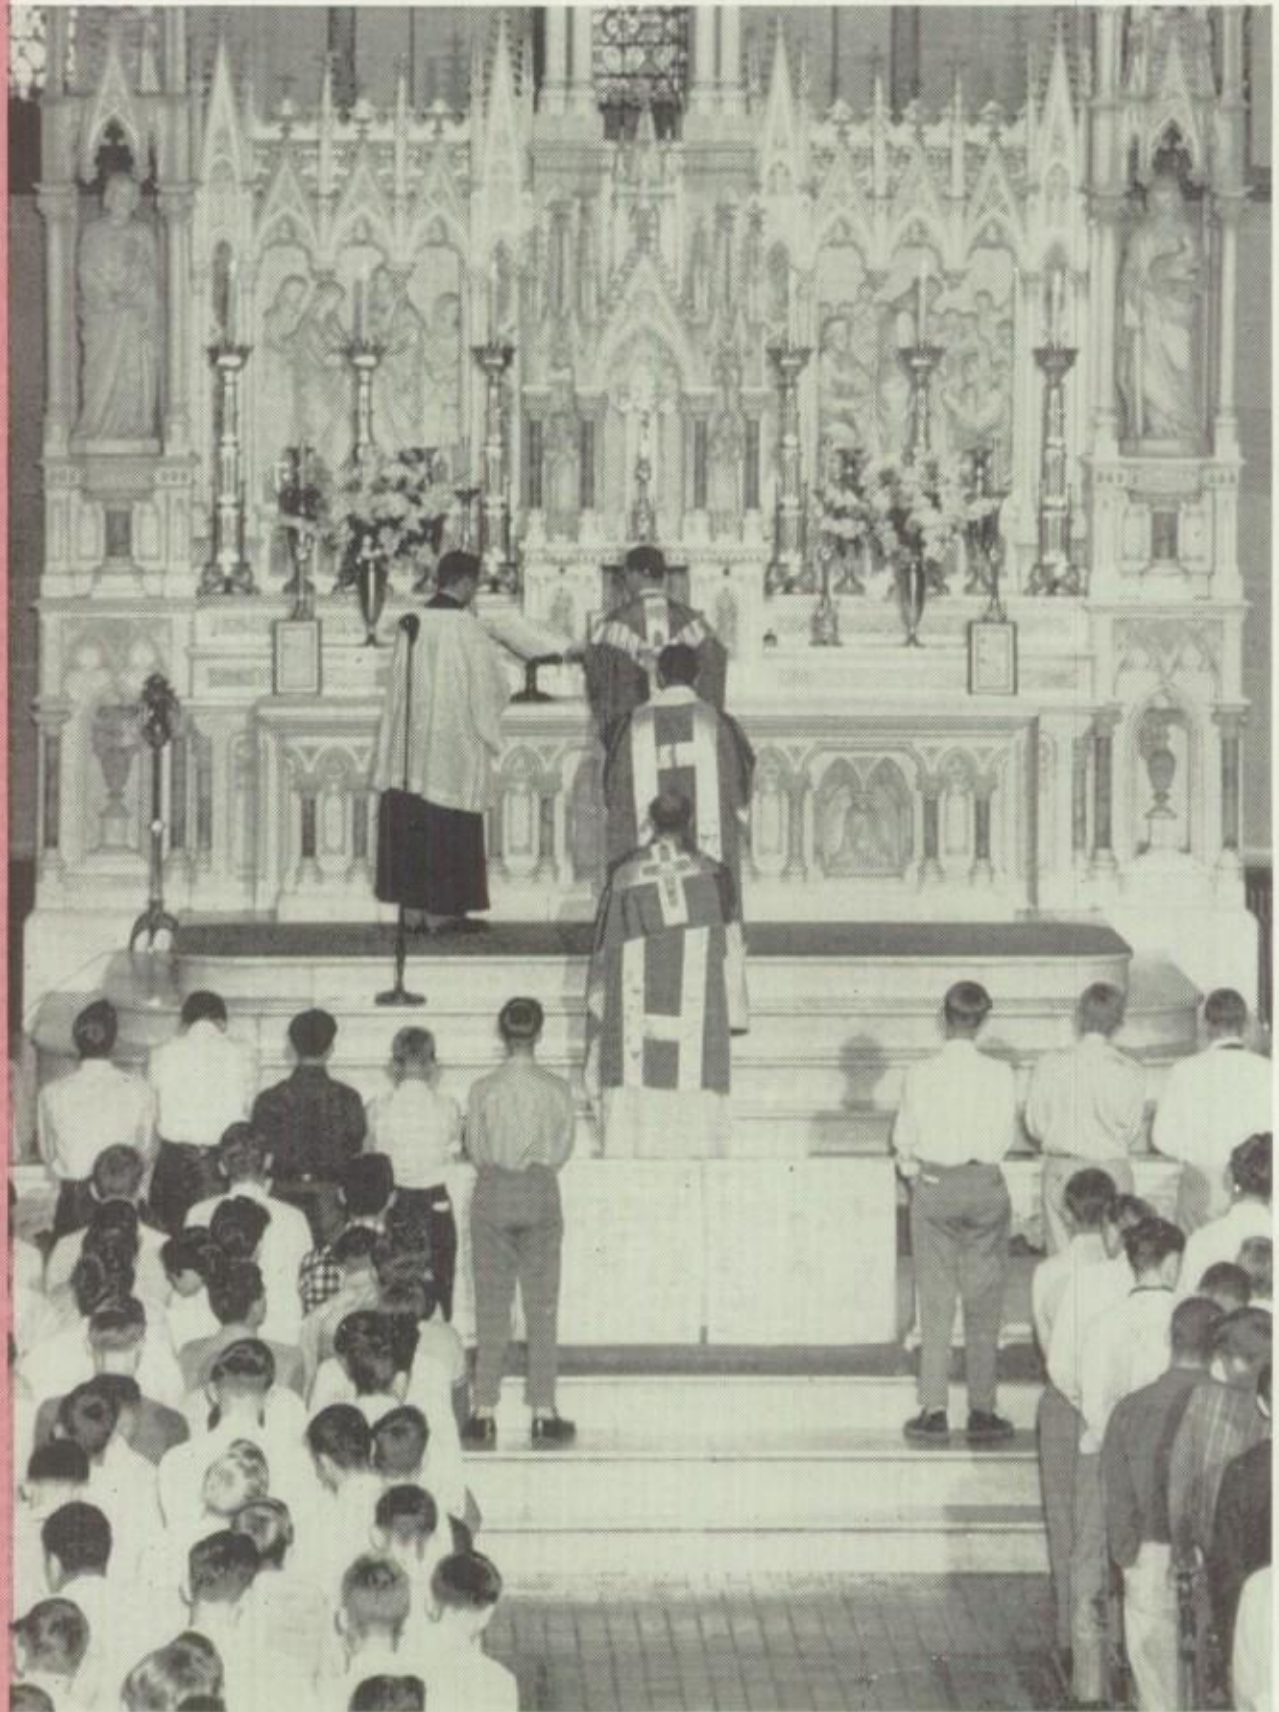

These busy beavers are taking full advantage of the Haven of Learning before the nine o'clock bell. Somebody doesn't like his report.

To Obey The Commandments Of God And His Holy Church.

His Sacrifice

Fr. Barrett, assisted by Fr. Hungling and Fr. Schutte, celebrates the opening Mass in honor of the Holy Spirit. Bill Bredigkeit is Master of Ceremonies.

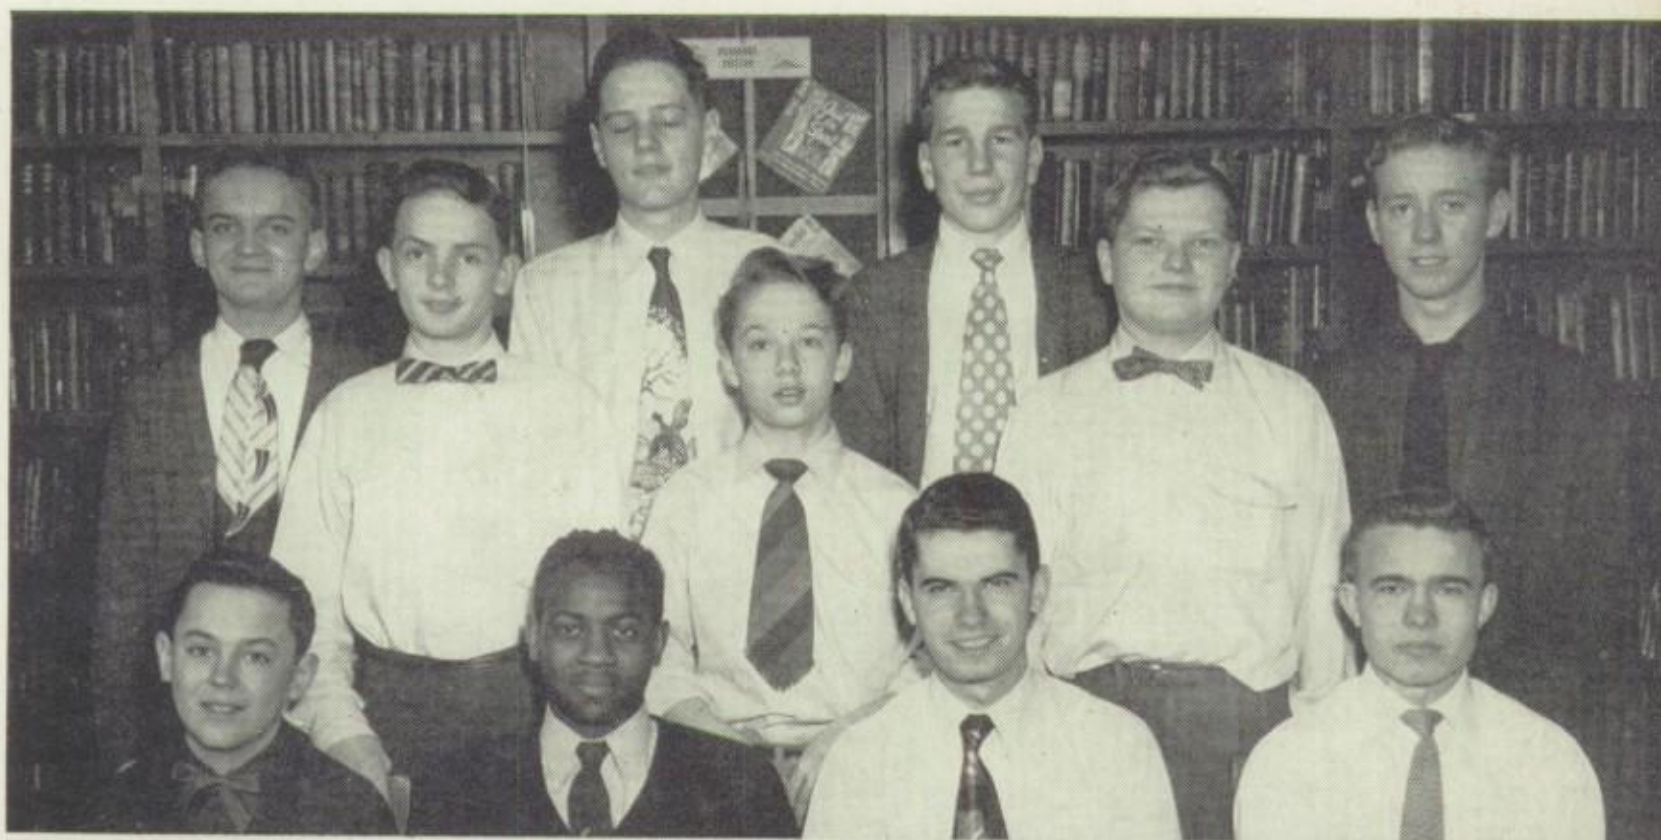

Demands My Sacrifice

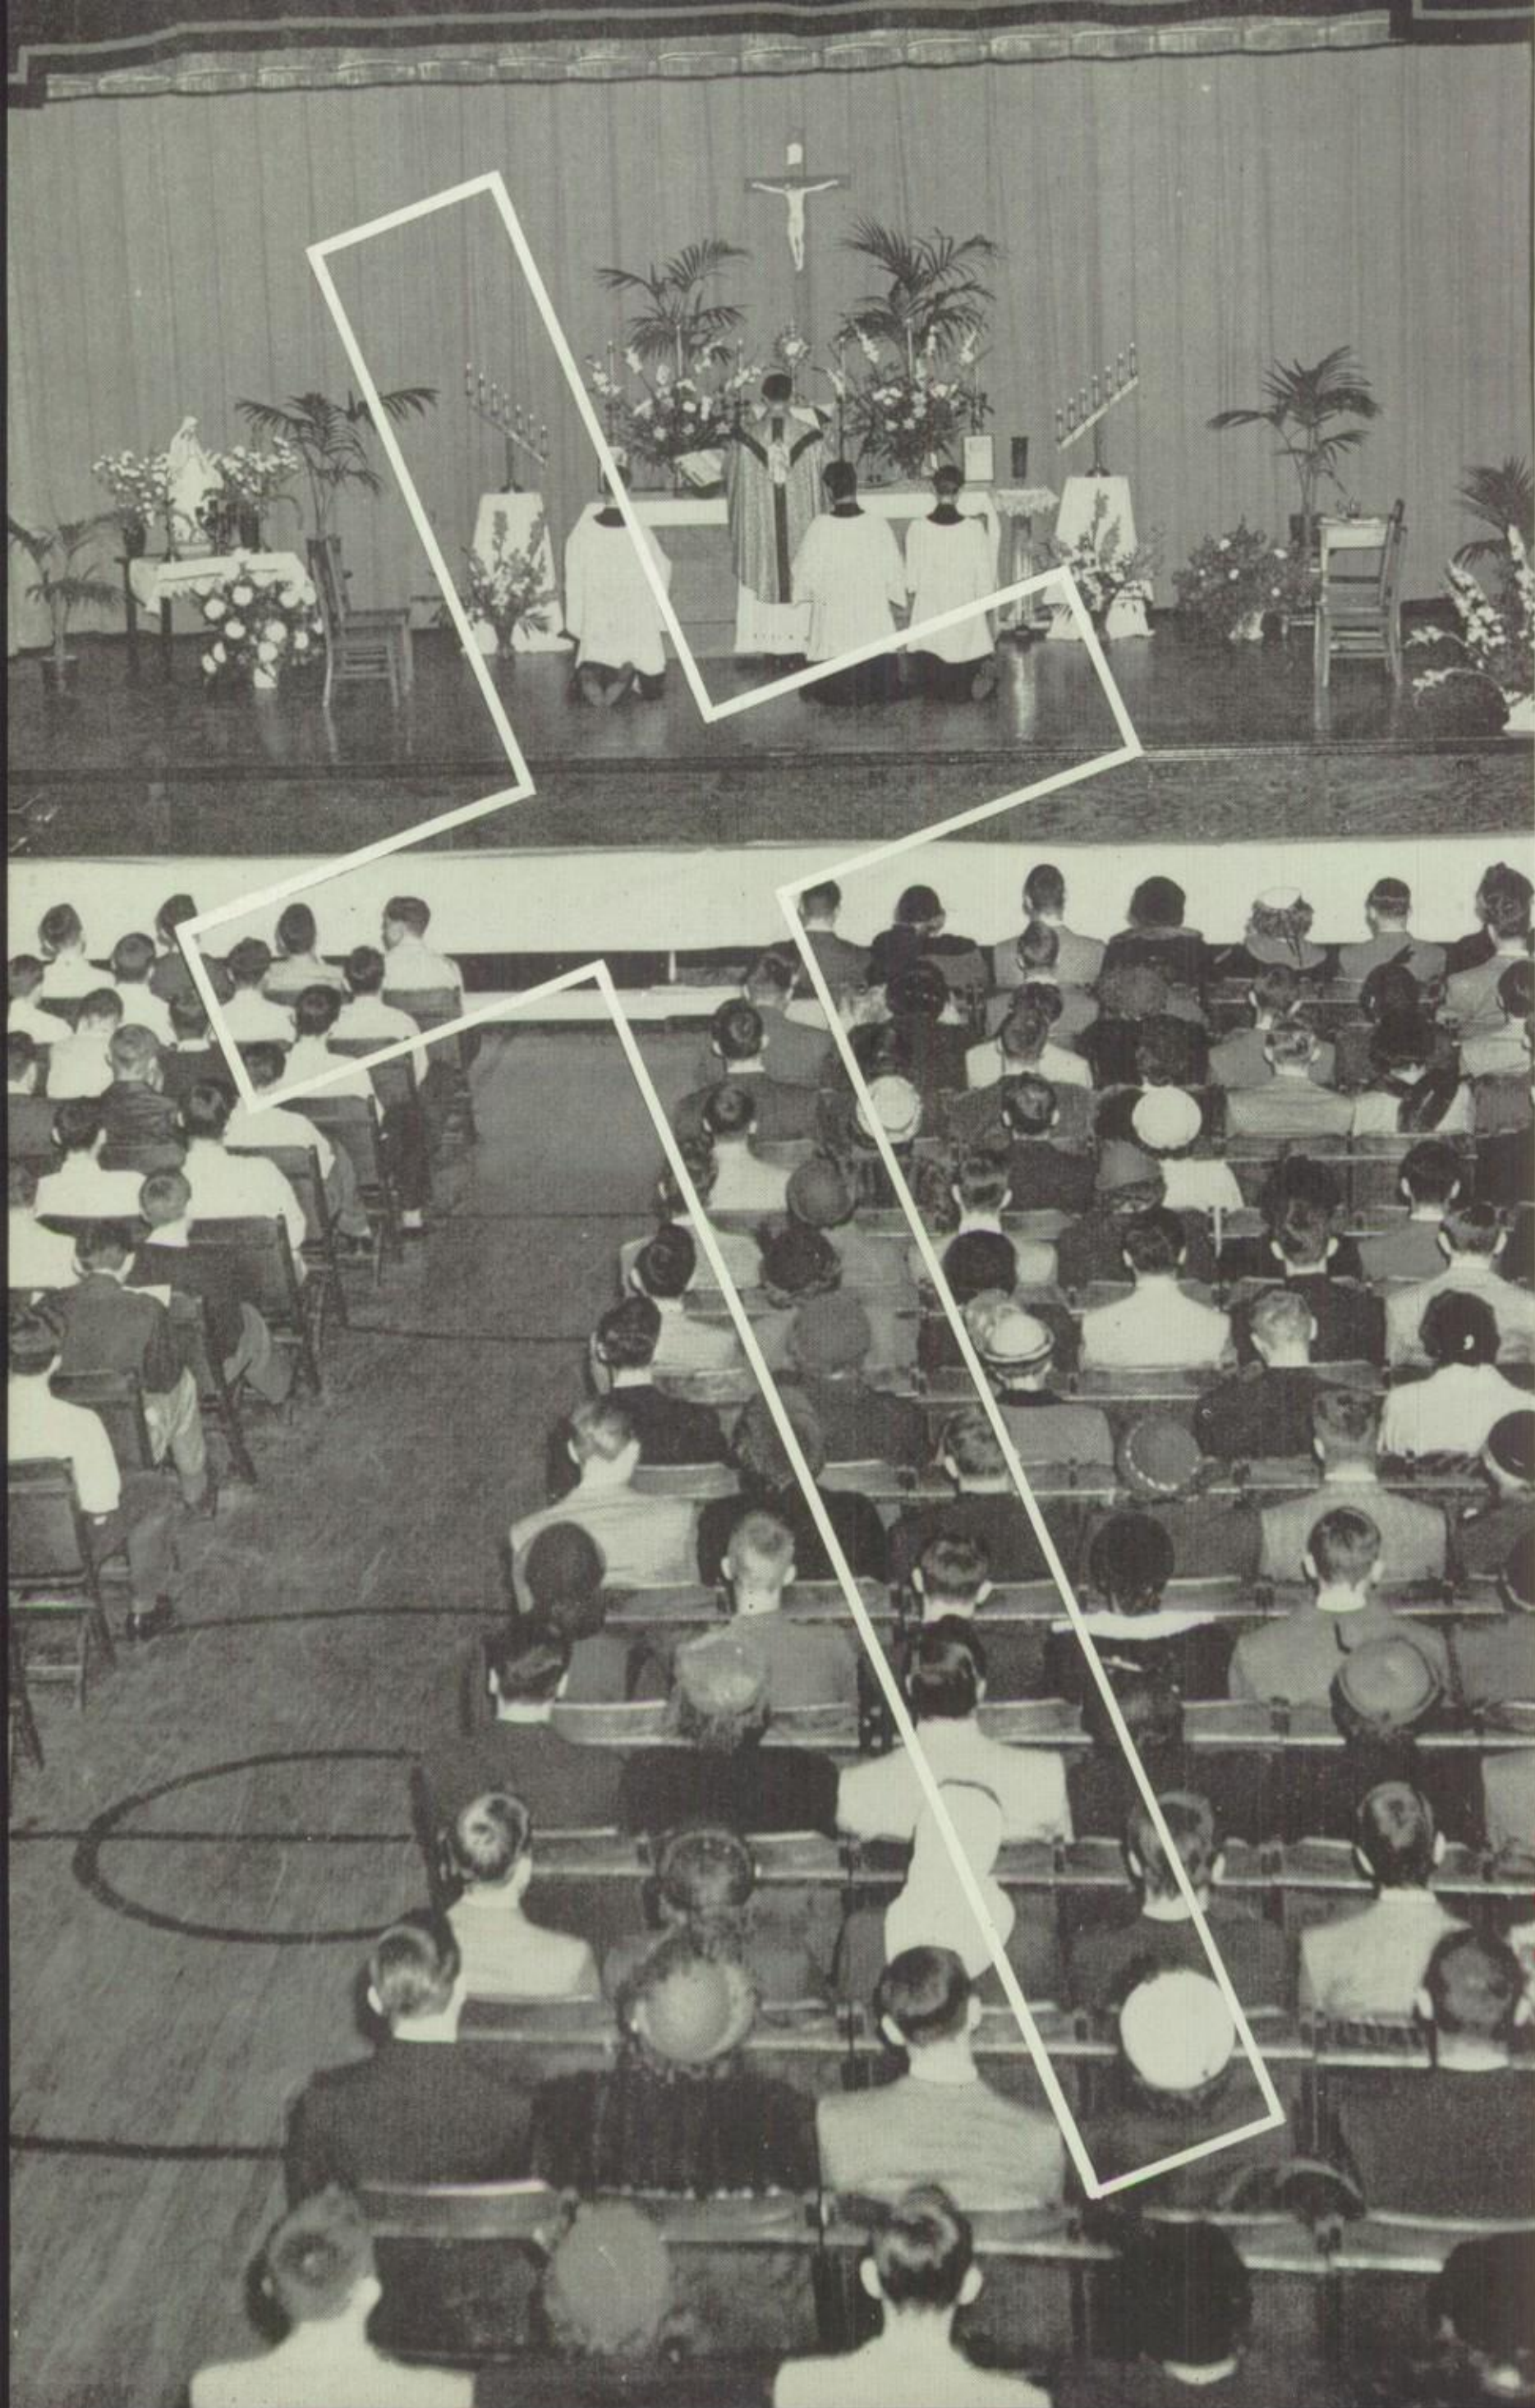

From my youth I have been taught the importance of obeying the commands of my Creator. Innumerable opportunities have been afforded me at Purcell for practicing the first and greatest commandment — love of God and neighbor. The Mass opening the school year, the Annual Retreat, the Lenten Self-Denial Fund, the Tobacco and Red Cross drives instilled in me a greater love of God and a spirit of sacrifice. Inspired by the C.S.M.C. and the Student Council who sponsor such activities, I have been more successful in following the laws of God and His Church.

"I Thought Upon Thy Commandments"

A group of praying Cavaliers pay their respects to the Blessed Sacrament at the Nocturnal Adoration during the Annual Retreat.

Father Smith elevates the Sacred Host for the final blessing to all Cavaliers on the last day of the annual retreat.

As a fitting climax to three days of prayer and sacrifice, grateful retreatants welcome their Lord.

Juniors, under the direction of Father Lonsway, practice the beautiful and majestic Mass of the Angels in preparation for the High Mass.

My Mission: "Teach All Nations"

The Catholic Students' Mission Crusade here at the Castle was ably and energetically directed by Father Raymond Favret. Donations were collected for the poor and for missionaries. Cavaliers were made "mission-conscious." The outstanding event, however, was "Mission Day," a thoroughly successful achievement.

Burns receives the results of pockets emptied in the spirit of sacrifice for the Bishop's War Relief Fund.

J. Amann, G. Clock, T. Deddens, J. Kramer, and R. Buschmann pack toys in Red Cross boxes to be sent overseas.

The Great Commandment

It's giving time with mighty fine tobacco! A combination of senior persuasion and freshman generosity keeps the Old Men's Home well supplied.

Seated: Fr. Byrne, Mr. Buehler (Pres.), Mrs. Niemann, Fr. Barrett. Standing: Mr. Metz, Mr. Beimesche, Mr. Sheehan, Mr. Bohmer, Mr. Mastropaolo.

Mother and Dad

My parents, after God, have given me all that I am and have. Realizing the value of a Catholic education, they enrolled me at Purcell. As members of the Welfare Association, they have sacrificed many leisure hours to participate in the school's activities: the monthly interviews with my teachers, the annual picnic, the Fall Bazaar, the Christmas party. Even my pleasures, such as the Senior Prom, are evidence of their kind and generous regard.

Mr. Loewenstine demonstrates the gentle art of murdering the bum on the mound.

To these victors belong the smiles, for they have accomplished a feat that the students have tried in vain for years — beat the faculty in softball. Yeah Dads!

Unflagging Interest and Devotion

Father Favret explains to these disappointed parents why Johnny got only 99 and not 100. Stick to your guns, Father.

Members of the Purcell Welfare Association cap an enjoyable evening at the "castle" with a midnight snack.

Cakes and other sweet things adorn the cafeteria. All this and a turkey too—maybe.

Duffy doesn't look too enthusiastic about the mystery meat. And why should he? Christmas dictates turkey, eh Duff?

Holiday

So we see, Mrs. Buschle. Give Renner a handout, Mrs. Binzer.

See here, Mrs. Keller, Joey wants service or he'll take his two cents elsewhere.

The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Hubert Buschle, performs for the traditional Christmas assembly.

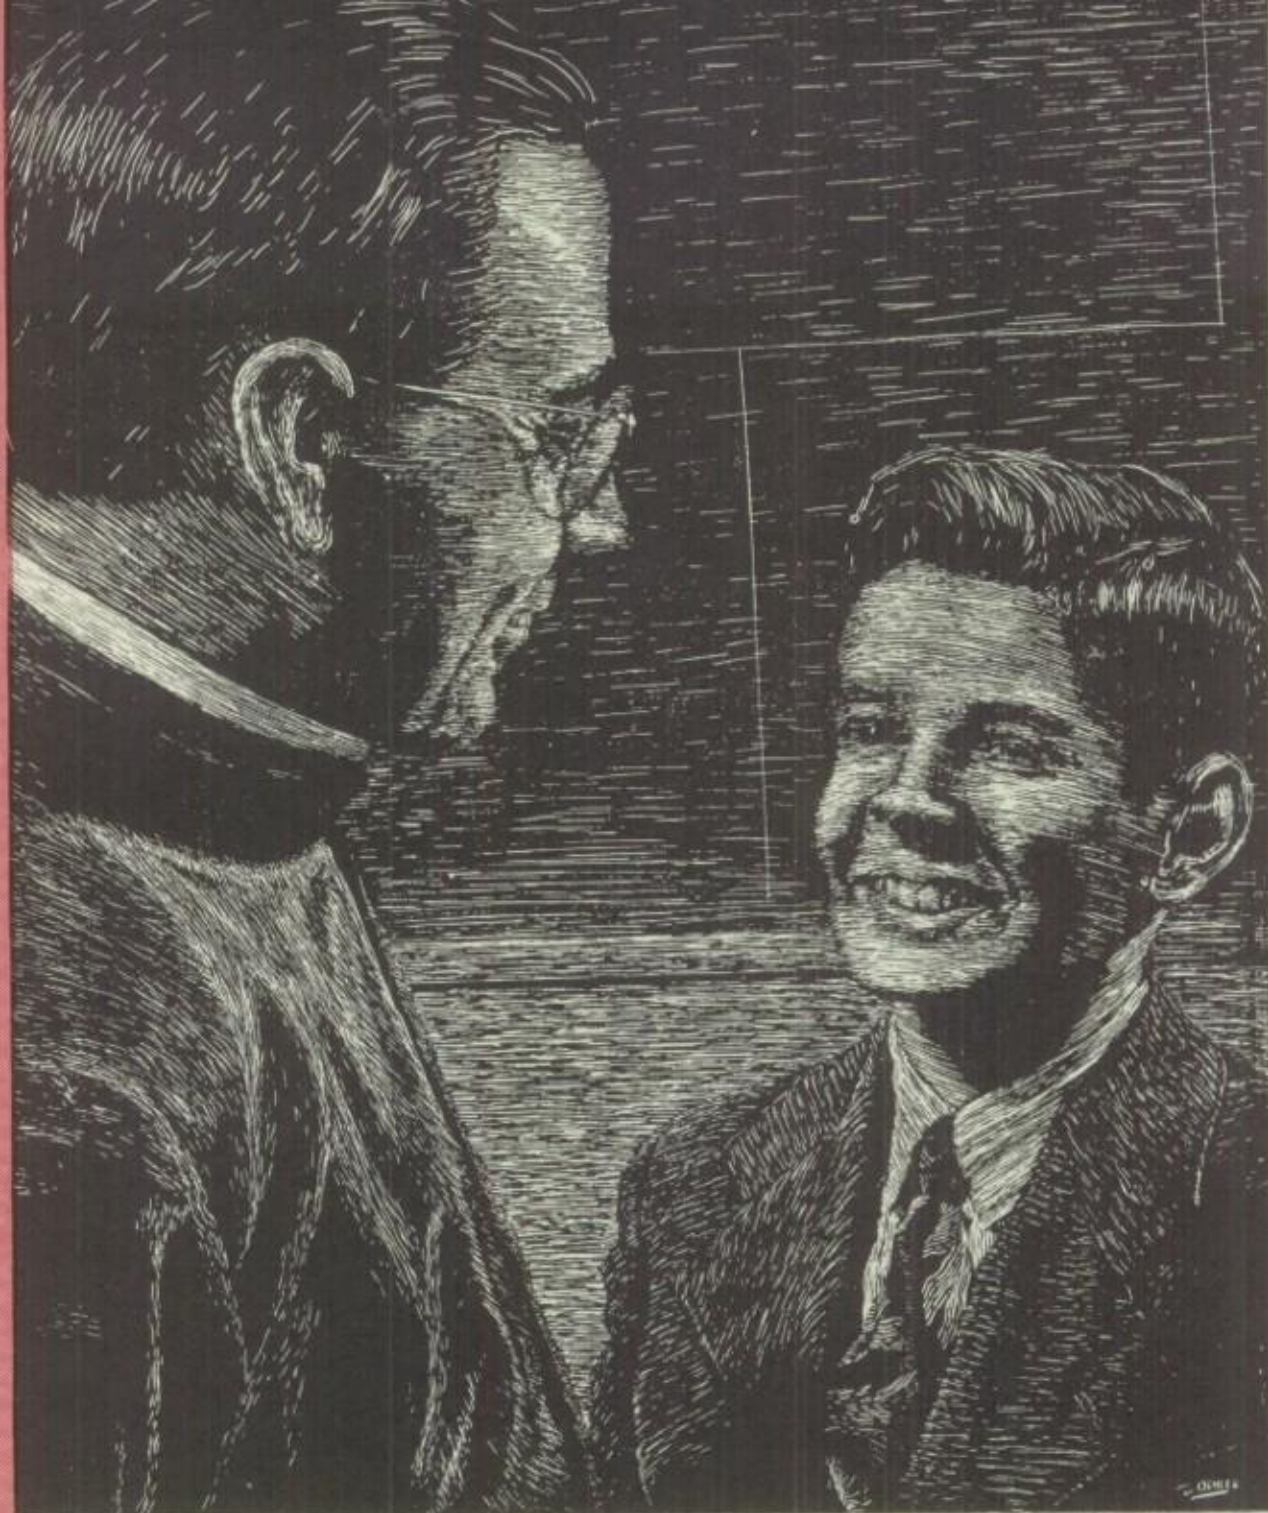

Snowed under with North Pole packages, Fr. Barrett smiles his thanks to the Welfare. Generous Santa salvages the mike.

Hilarity With My Parents

Drooling youths with visions of golden-brown drumsticks wait for little Miss Geis to pick out their ticket for Mr. Fenton Dobb.

To Respect The Rights of My Fellow-men

Regardless of Race, Color or Creed.

With Malice Towards None

The Church has always taught the equality of all men before God. My school has emphasized this doctrine in its varied curricula. Tolerance and justice are taught in the classroom, but practical applications are offered through several extra-curricular activities stressing communication. The Radio Club, Photography Club, Commercial Club, The Plume, The Cavalier — all offer me a means of implanting the principle of equal rights in every word, picture, or action. By cooperating with my fellow students in these activities, I can make a verbal principle a living reality.

They Proclaim Equal Rights

Most Cavaliers like to express their opinions and sentiments to their fellow students, usually in conversation. The more literary-minded among them prefer to use the school magazine as their sounding board. The PLUME, which, like the CAVALIER, has an inveterate habit of winning All-American honors, is an outstanding achievement.

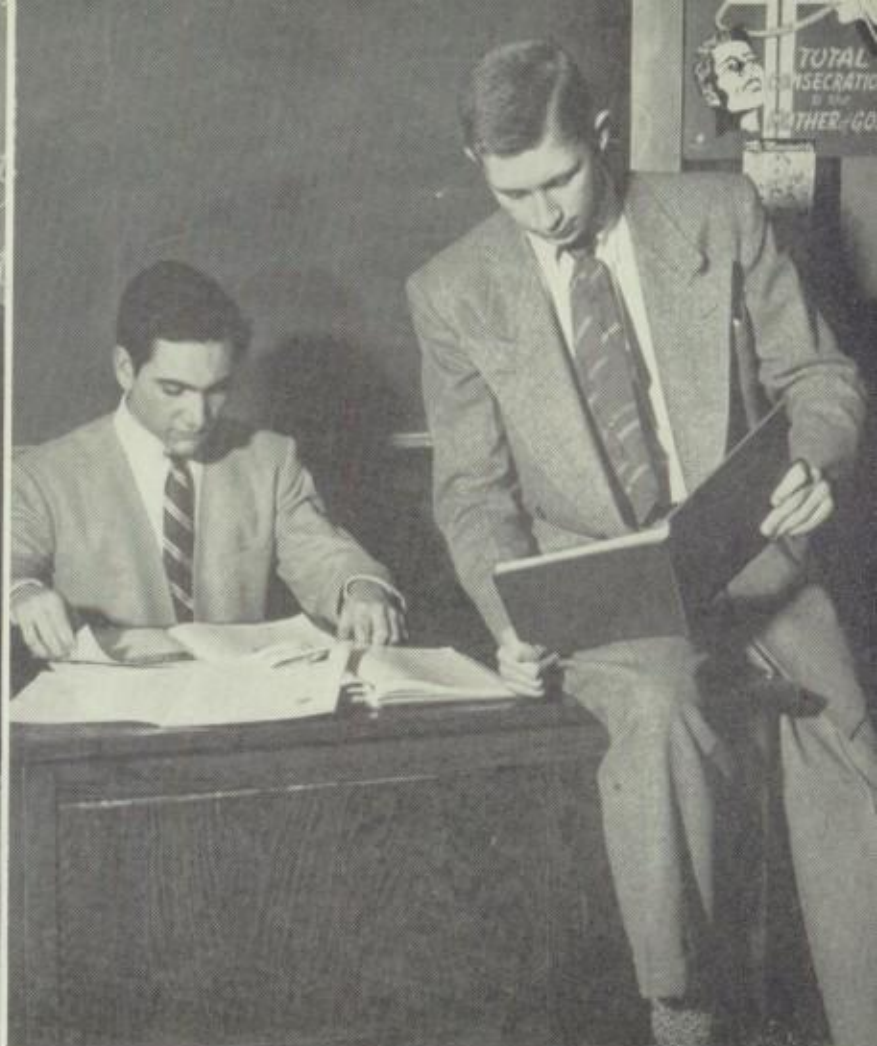

John Perrine and Paul Huber scan another publication for some innovations. Both are Plume columnists.

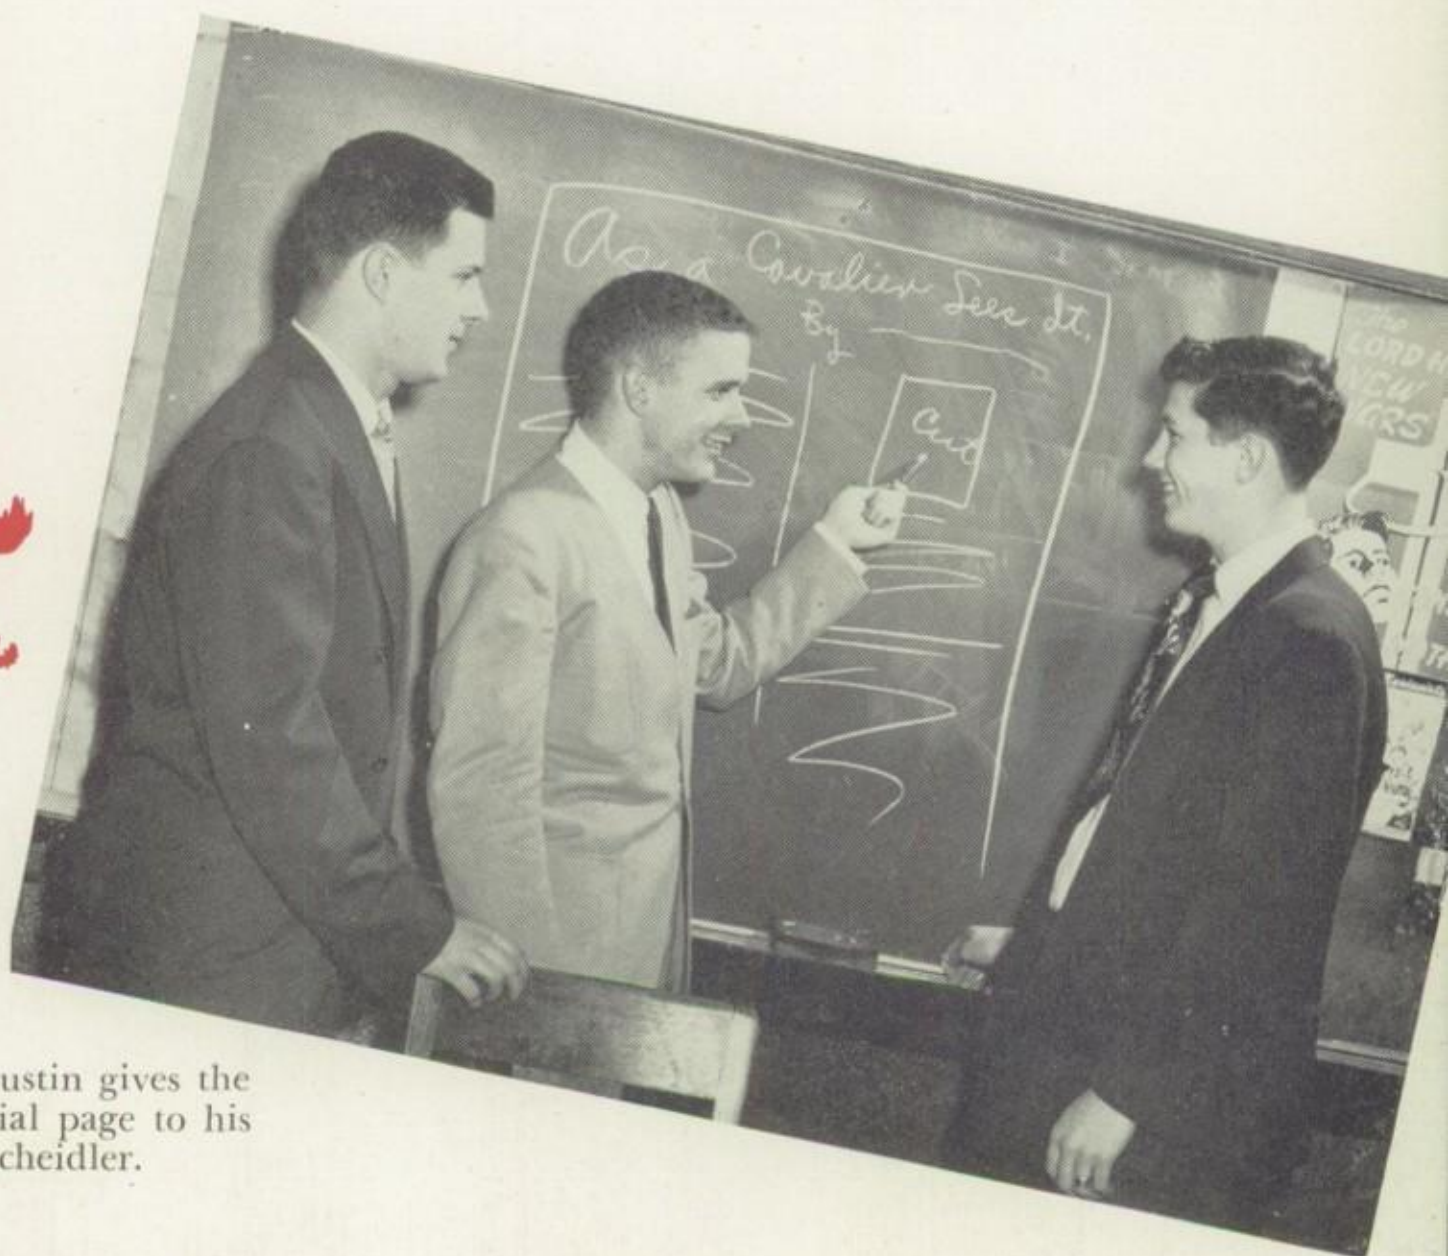

Huiet, a news writer, and Hocter, Brockhoff and Martin, sports writers, evaluate another publication. "Here's a mistake," claims Martin.

Morrison, Laux and Patten seem to be satisfied with the suggestions of fellow feature-writer Diana.

Santangelo and Greulich, feature writers for the Plume, look mighty intelligent as they peruse a bound comic book.

Retiring editor Charlie Austin gives the ins and outs of an editorial page to his successors, Shroyer and Scheidler.

To Live a Clean Life: In Thought, In Word And In Deed.

S P O R T S

"An idle mind is the devil's workshop." Often have I heard this quoted by a member of the Purcell faculty. The ordinary book-work at school does not fill all the needs of my mind. An organization such as the Nature Club broadens my mind and presents a useful hobby which will serve me well in time of trial. Then too, my body is able to work to capacity because of the wide athletic program at Purcell. Almost every major and minor sport has been introduced for those of athletic ability. But I am encouraged to be more than a spirited spectator; for all the students there is intramural basketball and bowling, and even games with the faculty. What better than athletics could teach me the value of leadership, self-control and clean living?

Same Old Story: City Champions

For the eighth successive season the mighty Cavaliers won the Catholic League crown and for the fifth time in eight years became undisputed monarchs of the Queen City high-school grid realm.

It was the painstaking, tireless, skillful direction of Jim McCarthy and his aides, Jack Hanlon and John Hogan, plus the loyalty and determination of the 1951 edition of the Crimson and Gold gridders that achieved success and reminded the fans that Purcell has no intention of losing its position as the Notre Dame of Cincinnati football.

Besides the record, tarnished only by Dayton Chaminade, another proof of Cavalier supremacy is the long list of Hackberry warriors who made the all-city teams: Co-Captains Jim Bur and Elbie Burns were chosen on practically all selections, while Lamping, Brockhoff, Folzenlogen, Renner, Burwinkel won a goodly share of honors. Bur was also chosen on the All-America All-Catholic squad. Outstanding juniors were Niemann, Kunkel, Schramm, and Co-Captains Humbert and Magliano.

It's that Schramm boy again, doing a good turn for All-Catholic, All-American Jim Bur.

Paul (Nonchalant) Schramm neatly sidetracks a Thoroughbred to leave clear sailing for shifty Bob Kunkel.

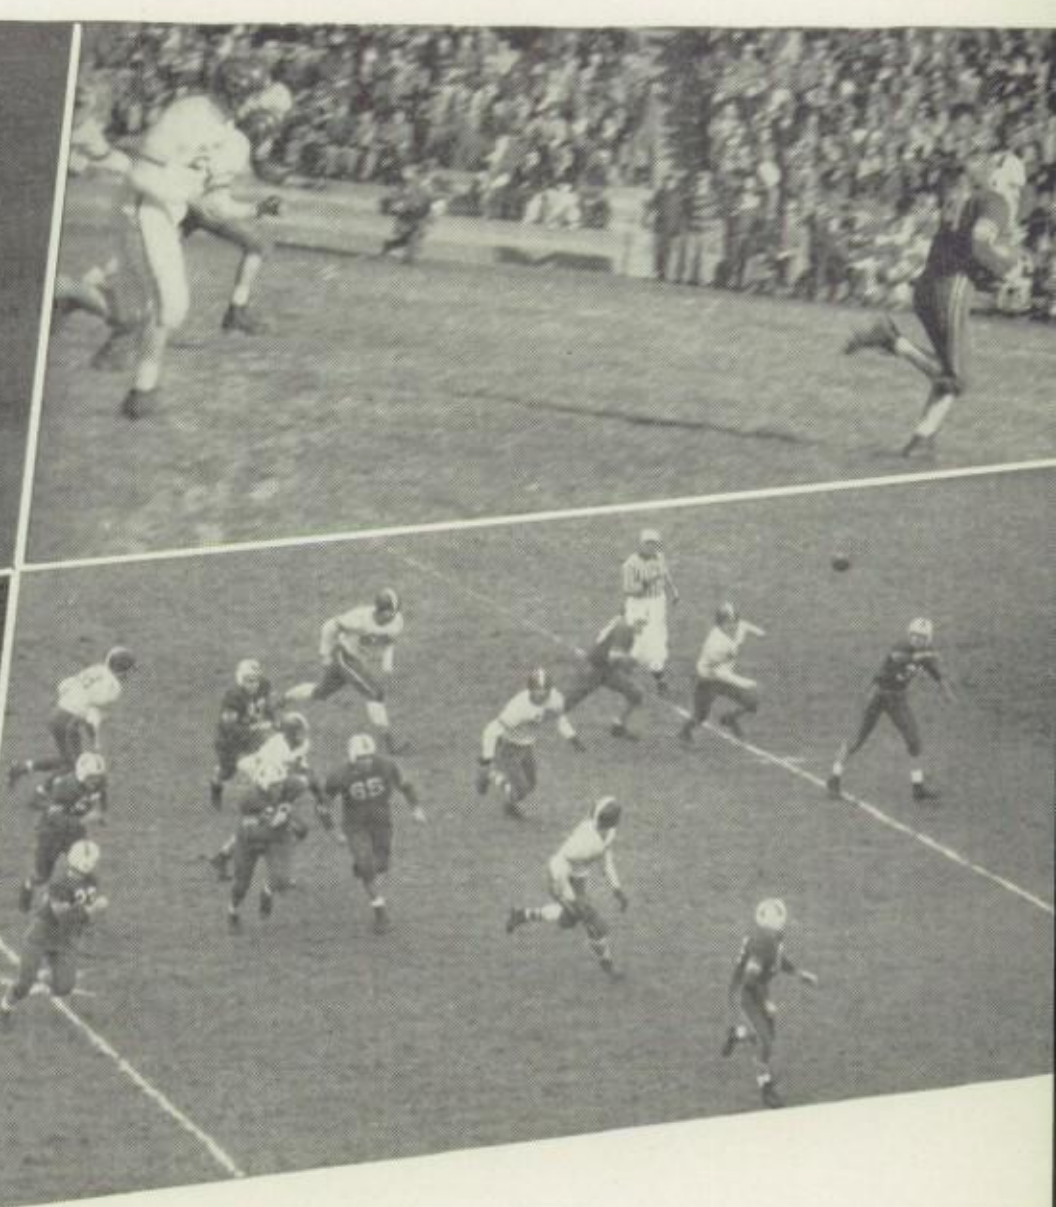

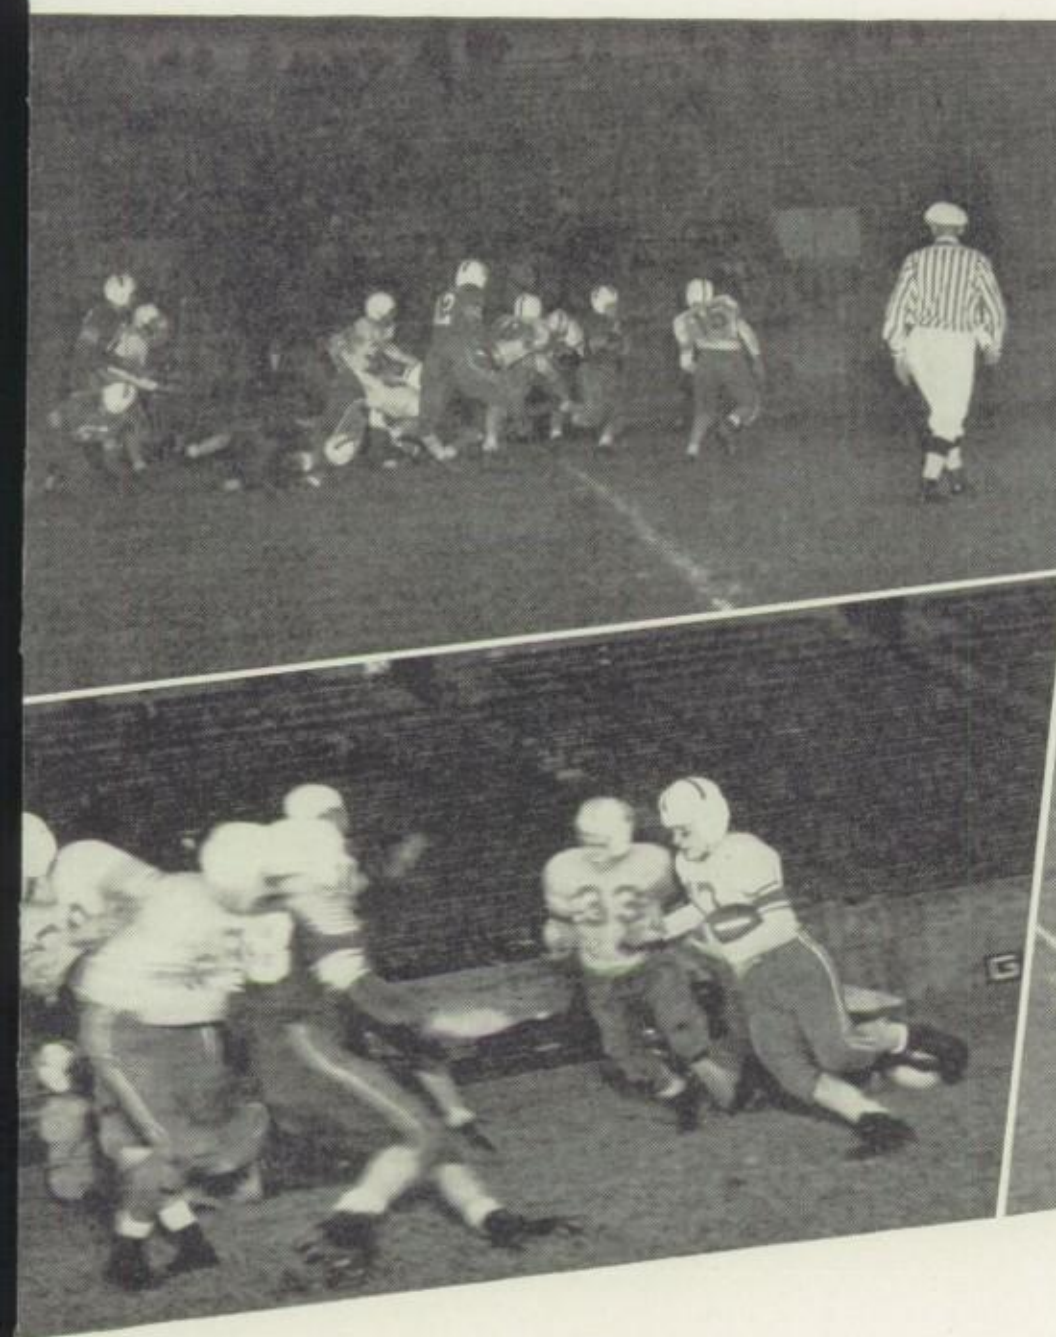

Stan (The Intellect) Humbert shakes off excess baggage in the shape of a West High clinging vine.

Morency really means business and ever-reliable Jim Niemann is going to see to it that Bob gets what he wants.

Bur butts right into the middle of the Portsmouth line, emerges unscathed, and decides on a long journey.

Purcell's great junior back, Jim Niemann, makes the longest run of the season for the first T.D. against Elder. He made the last one too.

Dick Renner, Stan Humbert, and Phil Magliano prepare a path for "Flash" Geis through the land of Sparta.

"Brock" limbers up and tosses one to Jim Niemann in the flat. They crossed up the Bombers on this one.

Men of Action

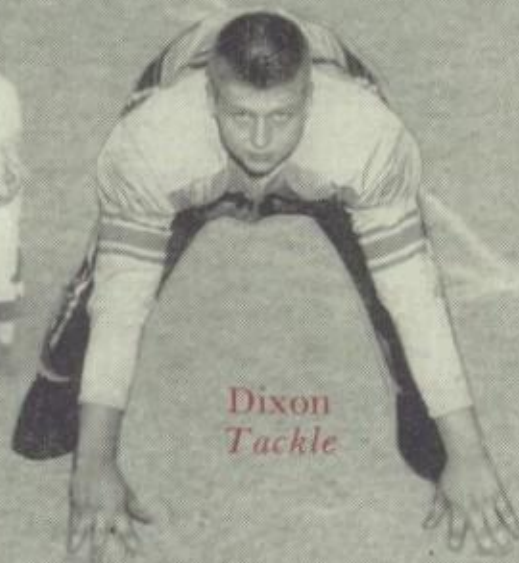

Senior Hard Rocks

1. Safety man Bill Williams hauls down an Elder lad, with Regensberger, Folzenlogen and Siegel closing in.
2. "Here's where we sink your ship," says sailor boy Karl as he halts a Panther cruise.
3. Seven Hard Rocks form a reception committee for this speedy Eagle back.
4. "Sure Shot" Hager maroons Jay Sweet to make things the tougher for hapless West High.
5. The enemy overtakes Jack Geis but Lamping, Burns and Schramm get their money's worth.
6. Hank Burwinkel and Phil Magliano are just a moment too late to rescue speedy Bob Morency from this tangle with a Thoroughbred.
7. Four Maroons are unable to change the mind of this blind-folded Cavalier, who just keeps rolling along.
8. A quarter of a ton of fighting Cavaliers comes hurtling on this last Tiger to insure "Will" perfect privacy on his journey.

The Reserves, brandishing a powerful offense and at times a great defense, ended the season with a record of four wins and two losses. Sparkling on offense for Paul Misali's "chargers" were Charlie Lima and Bob Carr, who ranked first and second respectively in the scoring department. Bill Macke was the outstanding offensive lineman, while Mark Fletcher, Bill Ballard, and Len Eads starred defensively. Jim O'Brien was an outstanding quarterback.

Coaches Gibbs MacVeigh and Jim Anaruma, erstwhile Cavalier grid stars, developed Purcell's green yearlings into a powerful squad that achieved the dream of all football teams — a perfect season.

John Servizzi, guard on both the offensive and defensive platoons, was the outstanding performer. Leading pay-dirt crashers were Ron Molloy, Pat Healey, John Silvati, Chuck Tipps, and Lou Springmeier.

Undefeated Frosh Presage a Rosy Future

As They Say in Brooklyn:

On the broad shoulders of Coach Jack Hanlon fell the unenviable task of building a team that had lost all its first-stringers at graduation. Captain Don Knecht, Paul Berwanger, Paul Huber, and versatile Jim Brockhoff were the only returning lettermen.

Inexperienced the squad certainly was, but always game and aggressive — and better, too, than a glance at the won-lost column would indicate.

In the offensive department, most of the "firing line" fell to Dan Wallis, center; forwards Jim Morgan and Stan Humbert. The dependable guards were Jim Brockhoff, Tom McDevitt, Jim Niemann and Paul Huber.

Purcell's starting five: Morgan, Brockhoff, Capt. Knecht, Wallis, and Niemann. Smile, Jim — yes, all three of you!

"Roaming free as the breeze, What's to stop me or why, I can roam where I please, Open road — a score is nigh."

Paul Huber, on pins and needles, hopes to see Don Knecht.

Jim Niemann, blithely unaware of Massa's existence, flexes his muscles and grabs a penny from heaven.

SHOOT!

The Spartans are always ready to take a tip from Dinkelacker. Score Knecht an A for effort.

"Now if you guys are hungry, here's a nice shady spot for cherry-picking."

Dan Wallis must have been dozing in class when teacher said there's a law called gravity.

Dan was sleeping too when they told him Sicking was a star, for here he outreaches the famed Spartan.

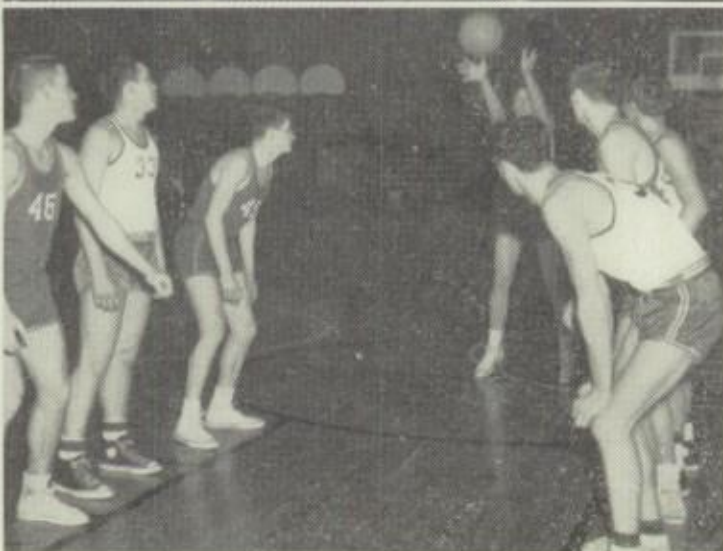

Four Baconites look on helplessly as Wallis dunks the sphere into its bottomless bed.

Plenty of Panthers around, but don't sell Jim Brockhoff short!

McQuaide takes Vonderbrink out of the play, giving Morgan a chance to toss for two.

Here's proof that Stan Humbert cannot only run like a gazelle with the pigskin but can jump higher than a Ram.

Jim Morgan's always hungry for two extra points, be it algebra or basketball, and a mere handful of Panthers won't stop him.

We defy any Sealtest artist to duplicate this balancing feat of our own Tommy McDevitt.

How high is a Mouse when he spins? The higher, the fewer chances for Aurora to get the ball from McDevitt.

Here's Morgan illustrating the squeeze play, and we sure hope it's not a lemon he's dehydrating.

The Cavalier yearlings were the little bright silver lining in an otherwise rather somber basketball horizon. Their fifteen—two record is a great one in anybody's league.

Coach Jim Anaruma did a masterful job in training his recruits in the fast break and a successful man-to-man defense.

Ben Duke, Pat Healy, and Bob Kroell were the leading scorers, while Stan Clark and Bill Webb were the defensive stars.

The Silver Team

With the passing of each year, bowling has steadily gained popularity at Purcell, 1952 being no exception. The current squad produced an outstanding record of 19 wins compared with 11 losses. Ken Arlinghaus, Bob Morency, Hank Leese-mann, and Andy Bolger provided the foundation for the team, capturing high-scoring honors.

The Silver and White teams took the intramural title, Anello and Boebinger holding the best averages with 164 and 152 respectively.

The Faculty League was the scene of a nip-and-tuck battle between the teams of Fr. Boyle and Bro. Gensler. On the final day of the season the trio of Frs. Boyle, Favret, and Rohrkemper captured the championship. Individual results of the season were: high game, Fr. Krusling with 245; highest three-game score, Fr. Boyle with 640.

Way For Our Crimson Jets

According to legend around the Castle, "In the spring a young man's fancy turns to track."

Among the returning lettermen Jack Gulden, one of the best high hurdlers in the area, is teamed with Jim Mentzel, a consistent winner in the lows. Frank Wright, pole-vaulter, has his sights set on the school record.

In the long distance events Pat Patten will be given the nod; for middle distance events, Keiser and Heinen are being heavily favored. Sprinters of superior ability are Jack Geis, Bob Morency, Simon Butler and Don Horak. Rounding out the squad in the field events are Dick Renner and Jim Bur, who will handle the shot and discus.

The cindermen will be without the services of Bro. Bill, who for so many years devotedly held the reins. The capable Mr. Hogan takes over this arduous assignment.

Beck to Butler, Heinen to Patten and off they go to churn the cinders for another Purcell victory.

Gulden on the high and Mentzel on the low display speed, form and the will to win. Looks easy, eh fellas?

Grim determination characterizes Horak, Sager, Geis and Morency, the members of our speedy 880 relay team.

From the looks of things this would be pole-vaulting, discus and shot; but in reality, while the coach isn't looking, Renner's the pitcher, Bur the catcher and Wright the batter.

A Pitch in Time Saves

At the advent of spring, interest once again centers about the diamond. In his sophomore year at the helm, Coach Jack Hanlon is busy building a baseball squad to continue the Purcell tradition.

Returning lettermen to the mound corps, Dick Meder, Tom Coyne, Paul Abbinante, and Bill Hocter are counted on for a major part of the hurling. A fixture behind the plate is Gene Martin, sophomore catcher. Outfielders Jim Niemann, Don Knecht, and Paul Schramm are the "big three" power hitters of the starting nine. Infielders Dan Wallis, Chuck Lima, Ron Hager, and Bob Wohlwender provide a capable defense and added power at the plate.

With such competent material Coach Hanlon has high hopes for a fine showing this season.

Caught in a serious discussion of the proverbial fork ball are the Hanlon hurlers: T. Coyne, W. Hocter, P. Abbinante, and R. Meder.

Our million-dollar infield: R. Wohlwender, T. McDevitt, C. Lima, R. Hager and D. Wallis.

There's nothing like speed and power in the outfield, and here it is in the persons of J. Matzet, J. Niemann, P. Schramm and D. Knecht.

Out to add new laurels to their already growing collection, the Cavalier tennis team has its sights on the "52" championship.

With Bro. Gilbert Gensler's departure, Fr. Frost was appointed coach, and with a veteran team returning, looks to the future with confidence.

Lettermen leading the squad are Jim Brockhoff, ace netter, Bill McQuaide, Tom Tighe, Bill Zins, Dino Santangelo, Dick Vorwerck, and John Cardarelli.

Working every bit as hard as the varsity are the Jay Vees who, according to the coach, need only experience to make them champs in the few years ahead. With such a combination, the Cavalier Castle will rank first in tennis circles for a long time.

Watch The Birdie

Purcell's crack golfers, working under the new leadership of Fr. Ray Favret, eagerly accept the challenge of bettering the fine record of seventeen wins in twenty matches of their predecessors.

Of last year's squad, Catholic League champs for the fifth consecutive year, five lettermen return; Dick Binzer, Ray Meyer, Bob Keller, Bob O'Connor, and Ed Longo. These veterans have able support in sharpshooters such as Wellman and Zobel.

All in all, it looks like a great season for the Cavalier golf pros. Hopes are high for winning either the Tri-State or District tourney . . . or even both.

Nature—The Perfect Tonic For Body and Soul

Probably the most active organization at Purcell is the Nature Club, under the supervision of Bro. James Goetz. The club now has eighty-five members and its popularity has increased steadily throughout the year. There are various divisions of the club dealing with specialized aspects of science. Both general and individual meetings are held in which instructive talks, movies, and slides are presented. Officers of the club are: President, Art Klinkenberg; Vice-president, Walt Herzog; Secretary, Ralph Ewers; Treasurer, Dennis Hemmerle. Many interesting field trips have served as a source of relaxation and education for the members and their friends.

To Discourage Unclean Amusements And Entertainments.

Social Life and Wholesome

Dances

I have pledged on my honor as a Cavalier to lead a clean life and to discourage others from morally dangerous activities. A clean and wholesome substitute for degrading entertainment is provided by two cultural activities: the band and the orchestra. Then too, there is spirited fun in cheerleading, rallies, and banquets. Student Council dances especially have impressed on me the importance of clean entertainment. In all of this I have learned that substitution is better than condemnation.

"Guys and Dolls" are out for a fling, as Dino's crew jump and swing.

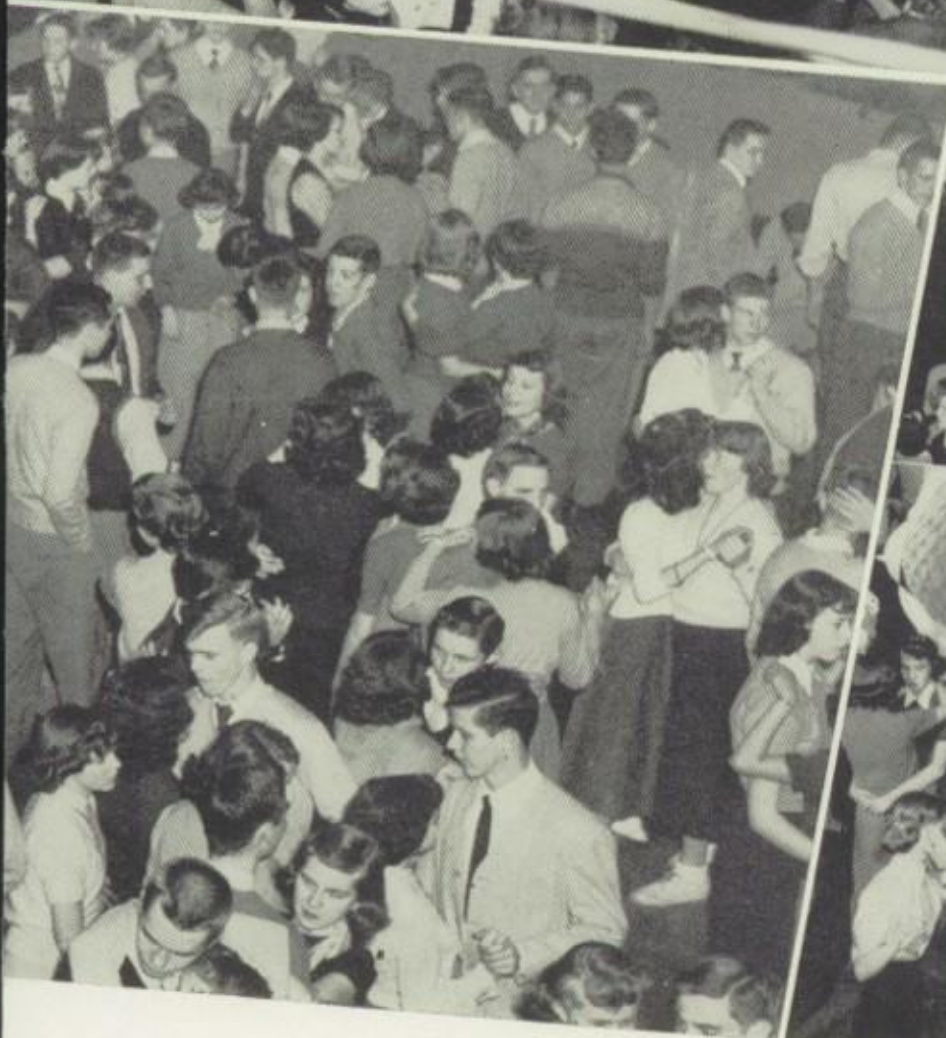

Camera-shy Cavaliers give with the chatter as glass-eyed Wessling is probably miles away on some South Sea Island.

Amusement: My Free Time Activities

With the "chicks" out-numbering the "cats" at a week-end social, the Cavalier once again thinks high school is really great.

Newly inaugurated cafeteria dances following the football games, under the direction of Fr. Lons-way, prove an immediate success.

Schramm and Co. investigate the possibilities of a new discovery, much to the dismay of Mike Muldoon.

Another Student Council Dance attracts sweet sixteens from far and near, and the men don't seem to mind a bit.

The band, most underrated organization at Purcell, sparked the pep rallies, fanned the enthusiasm of the Hackberry grid warriors and their supporters, swelled the chorus of religious fervor at the Holy Name Parade, delighted the parents, alumni and students at the Spring Concert — in short, it proved to be one of Purcell's best morale builders.

Dress Parade

Improving by leaps and bounds with every performance, the band renders its version of historic Iwo Jima for the Marines on Armistice Day.

Mr. Buschle gives the downbeat and Purcell's Marching Band solemnly plays "taps" for our departed servicemen.

Leaping Lizards

From the opening kickoff in September to the last game of the basketball tournament, sparks of atomic energy known as Purcell Cheerleaders urge the Cavaliers on to victory. Pep rallies without their presence would miss half their fire. Coached by the inimitable Bro. Robert Geary, they are "outstanding among all."

Purcell's orchestra, a very competent group of Ferillos, performs diligently for the Football Banquet at Hotel Gibson.

There's music in the air; it may not be new, but sure 'tis sweet and fair!

It's jazz, rhythm, and blues as the Purcell swing band, or Hackberry Harmonizers if you prefer, concludes its second year of existence. The boys must really love this "music," for they sacrifice early morning sleep to "catch" rehearsals and "blow up a storm."

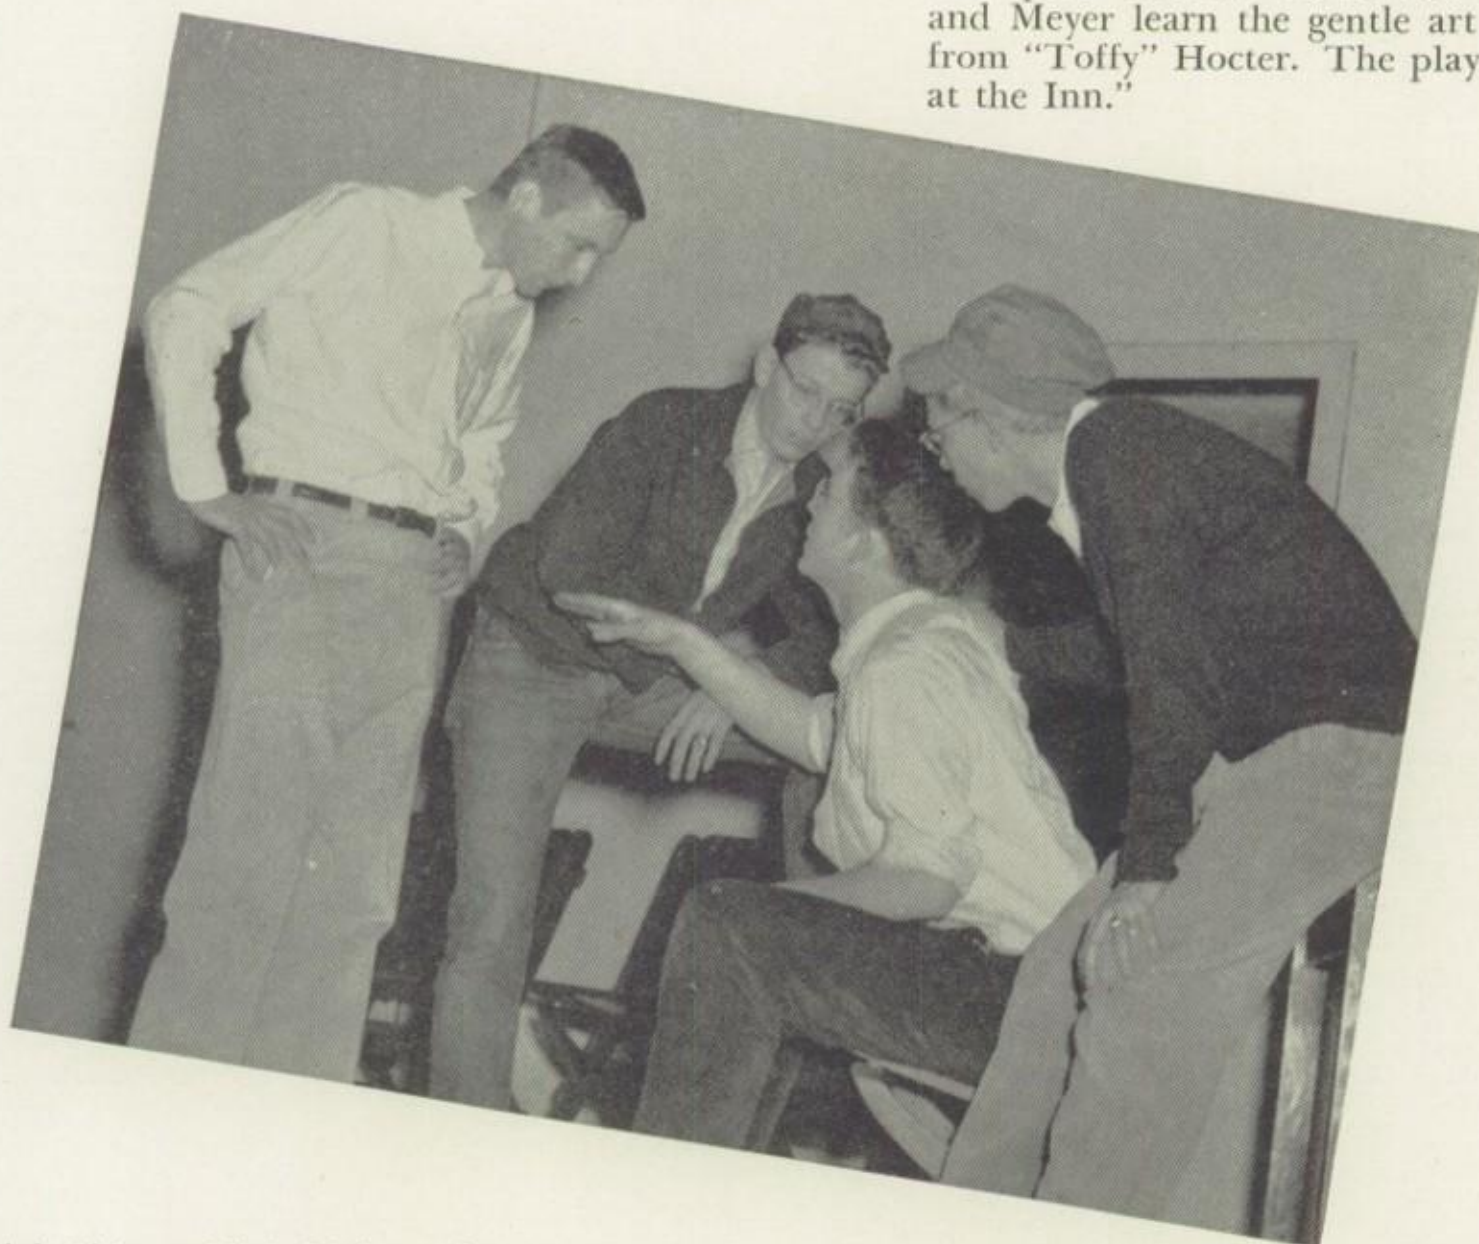

I'll Blow Away The Blues

Play-Time

Because the official school play has been transferred to the fall, eager senior Thespians found an outlet in several one-act plays. Staged by various groups were: "A Night at the Inn," "The Bishop's Candlesticks," and a shadow performance of the Passion of Christ.

The plot "sickens" as Binzer, Sandmann, and Meyer learn the gentle art of murder from "Toffy" Hocter. The play: "A Night at the Inn."

The jovial Bishop, Nick Meiszer, is unabashed by the attack of the convict, Elbie Burns, while rehearsing for the "Bishop's Candlesticks."

Football Fun and Festivity

Paul "Bear" Bryant, head coach of the Kentucky Wildcats, strikes a serious note on the value of sports at the Victory Banquet.

The newly-elected Co-Captains, S. Humbert and P. Magliano, speak a few words of thanks to fellow team-mates for their vote of confidence.

With the whole-hearted approval of Fr. Barrett and Mayor Tepe, Jim Bur, Co-Captain, receives the "most valuable player" trophy.

Smiles abound as Elbie Burns, voted the best offensive lineman, receives his trophy of remembrance from head coach McCarthy.

Paul Berning welcomes a willing contestant to face the panel comprising "Lips" Leese-man, Les Schreiber, "Legs" Wright and Don Hutzel.

Father Barrett, our popular Principal, inspires the Cavaliers to greater achievements — and juicier Panther steaks.

Joe Quinn, well-known Post sports writer, takes the battle-scarred floor and elicits smiles from Fred Sulken and Dick Renner.

Coach Dick Meyer's little darlings engage in strenuous pre-contest calisthenics during his bowl-game preview.

Maybe Tom Schlie and Dave Schulte are just wisecracking, but we would not be surprised if Reinersman really did win at Santa Anita.

Just between us dummies, we think Jerry is wise to the whole setup and just pretends to be a blockhead.

Elbie thinks of a date, Jim of a quiz, Paul of nothing in particular, while Karl looks deep-sea blue.

Jim Brockhoff leads the parade of speakers who entertained at the victory rally honoring Cincy's perennial grid kings.

Mr. Buschle's boys in brass lead the students in a vociferous rendition of the old do-or-die pep song.

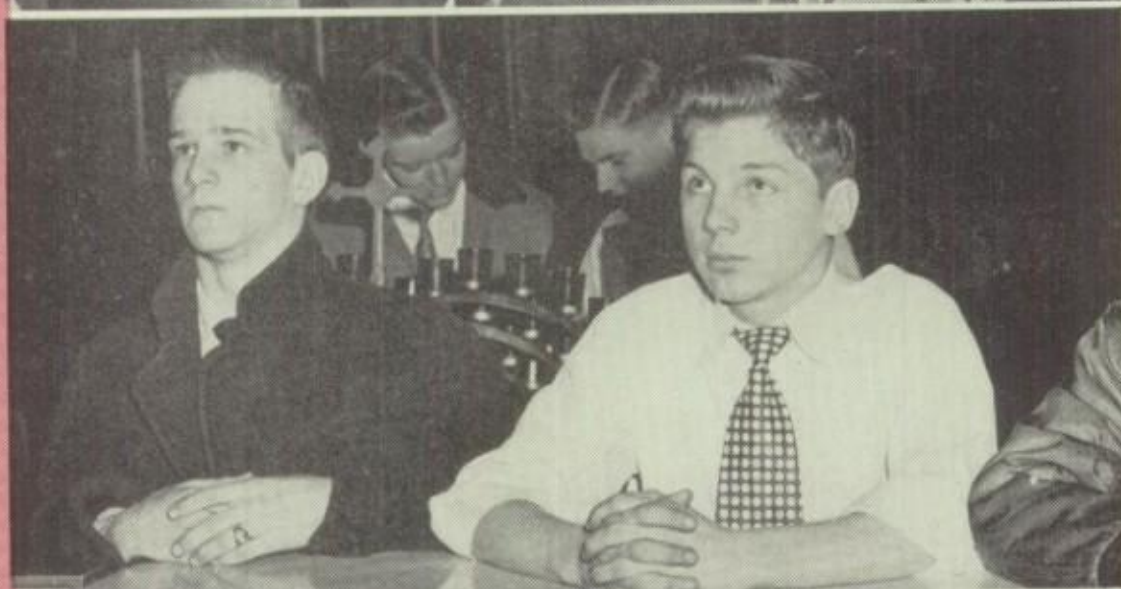

Nobody's bored. After all, it's the first rally of the season, and well, let's wait and see if the corn improves.

"Looking over my records the other day I found a pair of sweat socks, and remember, a true Cavalier never tosses things from the stands."

To Make a Sincere Confession And To Receive Holy Communion At Least Every Two Weeks.

Confession — a typical scene which characterized the second day of Purcell's Annual Retreat.

Les Schreiber and Spencer Biest prepare to receive Christ in the Blessed Sacrament, while Ed Durkin and Bill Bredigkeit light a vigil candle.

Father Hofstetter distributes the Holy Eucharist before the closing of the three days of meditation.

Sacramental Renewal

Seniors Grote, Knecht, Bredigkeit and Jansen enjoy this Communion breakfast with their mothers and Fr. Smith.

Every day during Lent many Cavaliers could be seen in St. Francis DeSales attending the early masses.

Christ has provided a beautiful and easily accessible remedy for my sins in the Sacrament of Penance. Every month before the First Friday and daily after school I can make use of the sacrament of forgiveness. In the Holy Eucharist I feed on the very Body and Blood of the Son of God. Reception every two weeks is the very minimum that can satisfy the hunger of my soul.

This praiseworthy activity, placed under the patronage of Saint John Bosco, directed by the zealous Rev. Charles Rohrkemper, and staffed by officers Paul Berning (President) and Bill Bredigkeit, Ed Durkin, and Arnold Knipp, accomplished much during the past year, including such projects as the Self-Denial Fund, Marian devotions, the Retreat, Mission Day, encouragement of daily Mass, and the sale of religious articles.

As a Freshman I Strengthened the Habit of Prayer

Prayer is the greatest power in the world, the most potent antidote for evil. As a freshman I rooted myself in the habit of fidelity to prayer — at home, school, and church. I tried to visit the Blessed Sacrament as I passed De Sales corner. The Student Spiritual Council, that most essential activity at Purcell, has arranged and encouraged the recitation of the Rosary. Through the work of these high-spirited students, the good resolutions I made as a freshman have remained with me during my entire high school career.

Mary's Medal Symbolizes

As a sophomore I was impressed with the necessity of devotion to our Blessed Lady and the importance of wearing her Scapular Medal. This medal, a work of art, symbolizes the arts at Purcell — both the fine arts and the useful arts. The Poster Club has done much to bring color to the hallways and recognition to the school. Representing the useful arts are our kitchen heroines, our able custodians, and the efficient Service Club. All labor for the betterment of Purcell. Like all these artists, I find inspiration in Mary, God's masterpiece.

To Bring Christ And His Church To Others; To Be a Leader In My Parish.

Catholic Leaders in Many Fields

Not only members of the clergy are obliged to bring Christ and His Church to others; this is also my duty and privilege. In all my activities I can be an apostle. As a member of the Triple A-C or the Mathematics Club I can learn, and then demonstrate to others how everything in this world shows forth the glory of God and declares the work of His hands. Science and Mathematics lead inevitably to God, the Maker of all order in the universe.

Chemistry Club

It's always better late than never. In mid-March, accordingly, Bro. Lynn Leazer and his little Lavoisiers, headed by Mert Doyle, Chairman; Dick Radler, Procurator; and Jack Martin, Secretary, organized the Purcell Chemistry Club and pledged themselves to investigate the idiosyncrasies of ions and isotopes.

The Triple A-C

The Triple A-C has grown by leaps and bounds during the past year, mainly because of the energetic Bro. James Goetz. Eleven Catholic high schools in the archdiocese now proudly boast of chapters and engage regularly in meetings, exhibitions and other activities. Cavalier Denis Hemmerle holds the office of President, succeeding Ernie Laux, also a Cavalier.

Mathematics Club

Purcell's unit, the Cavalieri Chapter, holds the proud distinction of being the first to obtain membership in the National Mathematics Honor Society. Under the capable direction of Bro. James Foerster and the leadership of President Paul Regensburger and Vice-President Bill Zins, the math lovers enjoyed an interesting and profitable year.

We Let Our Light

The Debate and Speech Club is one of the most extensive, active, and hard-working organizations at Purcell. Spreading Christ and His Church to other forensic circles, its members have traveled 1,640 miles in visitations to Columbus, Cleveland, Middletown, Delaware, Springfield, and Bowling Green. Under the direction of Rev. Bernard L. Horst, S. M., and the leadership of President Bill Greulich the members have taken part in 84 debates, with a record of 44 wins and 40 defeats.

It's Time For Leadership

My teachers have always insisted that religious activities center about my parish. For years I have received untold blessings from my parish and its devoted pastor. Having nearly completed my Catholic education, and as a junior especially, I owe it to my pastor, my spiritual father in Christ, to be a leader in my parish. I must be a lay apostle and thus aid in spreading the kingdom of God.

Doors and jaws ajar while Mert, after some persuasion, decides to bring his baton to the history class.

3G looks unhappy. Bro. Roos must be reading their grades, because only Herzog, King and a few more look pleased.

This is Goecke's best period of the day. Instead of just having his mouth open, he's got something in it. What! No Bavarian?

Admiring friends smile on "Professor" Neubauer as he blunders his way through a Chem formula.

To Be Proud of My Catholic Education And Always to Be a Credit To My School — PURCELL HIGH.

Outstanding Seniors of '52

Membership in the Crimson Club — an honor for those outstanding in loyalty to Purcell — such was the final glory of my senior year. As a graduating senior I intend to carry into my daily life the principles of the Cavalier Code. Though I leave Purcell, my education can never be complete. Through the services of the school library I have learned how to further my own education, and I have been taught to realize that education after graduation will consist mainly in reading good books. Soon I will become a member of the Alumni Association, for how better could I show continual loyalty to my school? In years to come I will take the example of the Cavalier Patrons and participate in all Purcell activities, though some sacrifice be thereby entailed. Loyalty to Purcell, to its Cavalier Code, is loyalty to the Church and to God.

Our hard-working, too-little-appreciated shelf-dusters: R. Wallace, K. Bramble, L. Schreiber, S. Marasco, E. Hess, T. Stadtmiller, T. Gilligan, W. Schildmeyer.

Seniors Are The Pride of Catholic Education

We, the Purcell Senior Class of 1952, find ourselves facing a world of confusion, strife and immorality. It is a formidable challenge, but we should be well fortified with the grace of God and the wisdom instilled into us through the efforts of our parents and teachers. We cannot leave Cavalier Castle without a touch of regret. We have made new and lasting friendships; we have become part of that famous Purcell spirit as we cheered our "Notre Dame of Cincinnati" to grid fame, as we engaged in the numerous activities of the school. That spirit will abide with us down the years.

Fr. Hungling sure has a whacky collection, with Burns

"There's nothing like relaxation," Fr. Welch was unfortu-their actions to his words.

Since you can't expect the President of the Math Club to know how to add, Fr. Boyle's proteges aid Regensburger.

Bockelman and Sandmann should know that intelligent people laugh even when they don't get the joke. Do you want Fr. Schutte to flunk you?

Iker's left jab falls short of the mark, and "Kid" Lindsay, waiting for the exact moment, is ready for the telling counter-punch.

Boy Scouts to the rescue as bone-benders Kuhl, McDonough and Burwinkel are thoroughly knotted under Garripoli's supervision.

Our Ever Loyal Alumni

ALUMNI OFFICERS: John Picciano, Ed Gutzwiller, Marty Bauer, John McKenna.

Since its organization in 1945, the Purcell Alumni Association has made great strides in its three-fold program: spiritual, social, and financial. The current officers: President, Ed Gutzwiller; Vice-president, John Picciano; Treasurer, John McPhillips; Recording Secretary, Marty Bauer, and Corresponding Secretary, Jack McKenna, are typical of the fine leaders in the organization. Last year the Alumni presented the school with $4500 for bleacher seats and sports equipment, all greatly appreciated by the students. Each year they finance a Purcell student to the X.U. Operation Youth and also present the alumni trophy at the Football Banquet.

Annually there is one general meeting followed shortly after by a Communion Mass at St. Francis DeSales for the Gold Star Cavaliers. Besides this meeting, each graduating class or classes, on the initiative of their representatives, may use the school for group reunions.

On the social side the Alumni sponsors four dances a year, all well attended. Next year, the Silver Jubilee of the School, look for even greater things from a truly fine organization.

That's right, gals, smile even if they are stepping on your corns. It's a successful alumni dance we're witnessing.

Dutch Bolger soars oh so gracefully goalward in the alumni game. Fond memories are recalled as former Cavalier stars returned to ye olde Castle.

I Am Grateful To Our Patrons
